

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

A plunge of cold air across the region will bring wintry showers, falling as sleet and snow at times to low levels. Settling levels will generally be higher, ranging from around 100 m in northern Scotland to 200 m Northern Ireland and southern Scotland.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow and Ice

Valid from 20:00 on Fri, 20th Feb 2015 until 10:00 on Sat, 21st Feb 2015

Showers or rain, sleet and snow on Friday evening and through the night will lead to icy patches on roads and pavements. Snow will settle above to fairly low levels away from coastal districts in Northwest Scotland, but will be confined to high ground further south, with local 3-6 cm. Little snow is expected in the Central Lowlands.

The public should be aware of these wintry hazards.
